1 Defendant, Trump University, LLC (“TU”), hereby submits this Memorandum of 2 Points and Authorities in Support of its Motion for Summary Judgment or, in the 3 Alternative, Partial Summary Judgment.

4 I. SUMMARY JUDGMENT SHOULD BE GRANTED IN FAVOR OF TRUMP 5 UNIVERSITY

6 Trump University is entitled to summary judgment against Plaintiffs’ claims. Two 7 months after the close of discovery—a date extended numerous times—and almost five 8 years after the case was filed, one undisputed, dispositive fact is clear: Plaintiffs cannot 9 meet their burden to produce admissible evidence of restitution or damages linked to the 10 alleged “core” misrepresentations.<sup>1</sup> Plaintiffs attempt to establish damages based on a 11 full-refund theory, a methodology which has been soundly rejected in similar false 12 advertising cases. The only appropriate damages theory—a differential-in-value 13 method—requires that Plaintiffs prove damages with admissible expert testimony. But 14 Plaintiffs have none. Plaintiffs did not designate any damages expert or provide any 15 expert reports on damages in this case. (Separate Statement of Undisputed Facts ISO 16 Trump University LLC’s Motion for Summary Judgment (“SOF) 1.) This undisputed 17 evidentiary failure on a critical element of their claims is fatal to Plaintiffs’ case.
18 Summary judgment must be granted in favor of Trump University.

19 ///

20 ///

21 <sup>1</sup> The Court certified the California, Florida, and New York subclasses only after 22 Plaintiffs narrowed their claims to certain common “core” misrepresentations. Dkt.
23 No. 298 at 4, fn. 6. As the Court noted in its February 21, 2014 certification order:

24 Plaintiffs allege TU and Donald Trump made the following 25 common misrepresentations in invitations, advertisements, and 26 at the free program and fulfillment seminar: (1) Trump 27 University was an accredited university; (2) students would be 28 taught by real estate experts, professors and mentors hand-selected by Mr. Trump; and (3) students would receive one year of expert support and mentoring.

Dkt. No. 298 at 4.

1 II. TRUMP UNIVERSITY IS ENTITLED TO SUMMARY JUDGMENT ON ALL 2 ASSERTED CAUSES OF ACTION BECAUSE PLAINTIFFS CANNOT MEET 3 THEIR BURDEN ON EACH CLAIM

4 A. Legal Standard For Summary Judgment

5 Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56, “[a] party may move for summary 6 judgment, identifying each claim or defense—or the part of each claim or defense—on 7 which summary judgment is sought.” See Fed. R. Civ. P. 56(a). “The Court shall grant 8 summary judgment if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any 9 material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.” Id. Once the 10 moving party demonstrates a lack of a genuine issue of material fact, the nonmoving 11 party must set forth specific evidence showing that there remains a genuine issue for trial.
12 Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 256 (1986). Only disputes over facts that 13 might affect the outcome of the suit under the governing law will properly preclude the 14 entry of summary judgment.” Anderson, 477 U.S. at 247-48. A nonmoving party cannot 15 merely rest upon his allegations or denials in his pleading as a basis for demonstrating a 16 genuine triable issue. Id.

17 In addition, a moving party may demonstrate that there is no genuine dispute of 18 material fact by either (1) negating an element of the opposing party’s claim or defense, 19 or (2) showing that the opposing party does not have enough admissible evidence of an 20 essential element of its claim to carry its ultimate burden at trial.<sup>2</sup> See Fed. R. Civ. P.
21 56(c)(1)(B); see also Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 325 (1986) (“A complete 22 failure of proof concerning an essential element of the nonmoving party’s case 23 necessarily renders all other facts immaterial.”); Nissan Fire & Marine Ins. Co., Ltd. v.
24 Fritz Cos., Inc., 210 F.3d 1099, 1102 (9th Cir. 2000). This showing “can be made by

25 _____
26 <sup>2</sup> In actions based on diversity jurisdiction, such as the present lawsuit, state law controls 27 substantive issues including the elements of the causes of action, measure of damages, 28 and applicable defenses. See Bank of Cal., N.A. v. Opie, 663 F.3d 977, 980 (9th Cir.
1981).

1 pointing out through argument [the] absence of evidence to support plaintiff’s claim.”
2 Devereaux v. Abbey, 263 F.3d 1070, 1076 (9th Cir. 2001) (en banc) (internal quotation 3 omitted).

4 B. Summary Judgment Is Appropriate Against The California Subclasses

5 1. The UCL/FAL Claims Fail Because Makaeff And Low Are Not 6 Entitled To Injunctive Relief Against TU And There Is No Admissible
7 Evidence To Measure Restitution

8 The UCL and FAL claims fail because plaintiffs cannot prove they are entitled to 9 either an injunction or restitution. Only two remedies are available for private litigants 10 under the UCL or FAL: injunction and restitution.<sup>3</sup> In re Vioxx Class Cases, 180 Cal.
11 App. 4th 116, 130 (2009). Makaeff and Low cannot prove entitlement to either. “Where 12 discovery has been completed, summary judgment is appropriate when a party challenged 13 by motion fails to offer evidence supporting an element of a claim on which that party 14 bears the burden of proof at trial.” Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322-24 (1986).

15 a. There is no entitlement to an injunction against TU

16 There is no real or immediate threat of an irreparable injury in the future that 17 warrants an injunction in this case. “Injunctive relief should be denied if at the time of the 18 order or judgment, there is no reasonable probability that the past acts complained of will 19 reoccur.” California Service Station & Auto. Repair Ass’n v. Union Oil Co. of Cal., 232 20 Cal. App. 3d 44, 57 (1991); Sun Microsystems, Inc. v. Microsoft Corp., 188 F.3d 1115, 21 1123 (9th Cir. 1999), overruled on other grounds in eBay Inc. v. MercExchange, LLC, 22 547 U.S. 388 (2006). Moreover, the California Supreme Court has held that to establish a 23 § 17200 claim for injunctive relief, something more must be shown than the simple fact 24 that defendant is still in business and is in a position to err again. State of Cal. v. Texaco, 25 Inc., 46 Cal. 3d 1147, 1169-70 (1998). “Neither speculation nor subjective apprehension

26 <sup>3</sup> “The restitutionary remedies of section 17203 and 17535 . . . are identical and are 27 construed in the same manner.” Cortez v. Purolator Air Filtration Products Co., 23 Cal.
28 4th 163, 177, fn. 10 (2000).

1 about possible harm establishes standing.” Hunt v. Fields, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61004 2 at *3 (E. D. Cal., May 1, 2014) (citing Mayfield v. U.S., 599 F.3d 964, 970 (9th Cir.
 3 2010)).

4 Here, two facts are dispositive on this issue. First, TU ceased enrolling students in 5 classes after July 2010. (SOF 2.) Second, TU also changed its name to the Trump 6 Entrepreneur Initiative on June 2, 2010. (SOF 3.) When there is no likelihood of future 7 injury to be addressed by injunctive relief, standing to pursue the remedy is lacking.
 8 Delarosa v. Boiron, Inc., 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 188828 at *17 (C.D. Cal., Dec. 28, 9 2012). Plaintiffs cannot establish entitlement to an injunction against TU.

10 b. Restitution cannot be awarded without evidentiary support

11 TU is entitled to summary judgment on the UCL and FAL claims because Makaeff 12 and Low have no admissible evidence establishing a valid methodology for restitution or 13 the amount of restitution. Restitution cannot be awarded without evidentiary support. In 14 re Vioxx, 180 Cal. App. 4th at 131. Unlike the class certification stage, on summary 15 judgment Makaeff and Low cannot skirt the need for a viable restitutionary model with 16 evidence of the amount of restitution. Plaintiffs have no evidence that the TU seminars 17 purchased by Makaeff and Low were completely worthless as they allege. In a false 18 advertising case, the recovery is not the total purchase price. See Weredebaugh v. Blue
 19 Diamond Growers, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 71575 at *78-79 (N.D. Cal., May 23, 2014) 20 (rejecting full refund model of damages as inappropriate where plaintiff seeks restitution, 16 the evidence).<sup>5</sup> Discovery is now closed and no experts were designated by Plaintiffs in 17 this case (SOF 1).

18 In Colgan, a UCL/FAL/CLRA false advertising case, the Court of Appeal reversed 19 an award of restitution even when plaintiff had presented expert evidence on the issue of 20 restitution. The court found that even when plaintiff had presented “expert testimony that 21 ‘Made in U.S.A.’ claims have a significant positive impact on consumers and that 22 [defendant] realized a ‘substantial advantage’ by using a ‘Made in U.S.A.’ representation, 23

24 alone insufficient because “[r]estitution based on a full refund would only be appropriate 25 if not a single class member received any benefit from the products.”)

26 <sup>5</sup> In Colgan, the Court of Appeal noted the trial court’s rejection of plaintiffs’ attempt to 27 recover restitution measured by either the entire purchase price of the products or the 28 defendant’s gross profit from sale of the products as inequitable when plaintiffs did receive product in exchange for their purchase. Id. at 676-677.

1 this was still not evidence of the amount of restitution because there was no attempt by 2 the expert “to quantify either the dollar value of the consumer impact or the advantage 3 realized by [defendant].” Id. at 700; accord Ogden v. Bumble Bee Foods, LLC, 2014 U.S.
4 Dist. LEXIS 565 at *52 (N.D. Cal. Jan. 2, 2014) (granting defendant’s motion for 5 summary judgment on UCL, FAL, and CLRA claims when plaintiff failed to offer any 10 must be able to prove, for each class member, the difference between what the plaintiffs 11 paid and the value of what the plaintiffs received.”).

12       Makaeff and Low lack any expert evidence to support their claims that the 13 seminars and mentorships were worthless. Additionally, like the plaintiff in Colgan, 14 Makaeff and Low failed to present any evidence, let alone expert testimony or reports, to 15 quantify either the alleged dollar value of the consumer impact or the alleged advantage 16 realized by TU. (SOF 1.) This absence of evidence is fatal to the UCL and FAL claims 17 because the Court cannot grant relief beyond the boundaries of a Plaintiff’s evidentiary

28

1           2.     The CLRA Claim Fails Because There Is No Admissible Evidence Of 2           Actual Damages Attributable To The “Core” Misrepresentations

3           TU is also entitled to summary judgment on the CLRA claim because the 4 California plaintiffs have no evidence to support either an injunction, restitution, or 5 damages; the available remedies under the CLRA. Cal. Civ. Code §§ 1780(a)(1)-(3).

6                   a.     An Injunction Cannot Issue

7           In addition to the reasons stated above in Section II.B.1.a, an injunction against TU 8 on the CLRA cause of action is not available because Makaeff and Low do not face “a 9 real or immediate threat of an irreparable injury” because neither testified they intended 10 further purchase of TU seminars or mentorships. See Perez v. Nidek Co., 711 F.3d 1109, 11 1114 (9th Cir. 2013) (affirming dismissal of CLRA claim when there was no evidence or 12 allegation that plaintiff intended further use of product/service at issue).

13                   b.     Plaintiffs have no admissible evidence of restitution

14           The restitutionary remedy available under the CLRA is treated similarly to the 15 determination of restitution under the UCL and FAL. See Colgan, 135 Cal. App. 4th at 16 694. Therefore, Makaeff and Low’s lack of admissible evidence regarding the proper 17 amount of restitution on their UCL and FAL claims is also fatal to the CLRA claim. See 18 Section II.B.1.b.

19                   c.     Plaintiffs have no admissible evidence of CLRA damages

20           A determination of money damages under the CLRA requires the plaintiff to 21 establish “the difference between the [market] value of that with which the defrauded 22 person parted and the [market] value of that which he received, together with any 23 additional damages arising from the particular transaction.” See Colgan, 135 Cal. App.
24 4th at 675. Here, as with the UCL and FAL claims discussed above in Section II.B.1.b, 25 Makaeff and Low failed to produce any evidence that the TU seminars and mentorships 26 purchased were not worth what they paid for them or that the seminars and mentorships 27 were worthless—a necessary predicate to determining the difference between what was 28 paid and the market value of what was received. Without this evidence, which necessarily

1 requires expert testimony, Makaeff and Low cannot meet their burden to prove actual 2 damages on their CLRA claim. See Fed. R. Evid. 701 (lay witness may not give opinion 3 testimony when opinion would require “scientific, technical, or other specialized 4 knowledge within the scope of Rule 702.”); See also Astiana, 2014 U.S. Dist. LEXIS
5 1640 at *37-38 (When “computing the effect of the unlawful conduct on the market price
6 of a product purchased by the class. . . . Expert testimony may be necessary to determine 7 the amount of price inflation attributable to the challenged practice.”); In re eBay Litig., 8 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 128616 at *15-16 (expert witness necessary to validate plaintiffs’ 9 damages/restitution model). Without admissible evidence of actual damages, summary 10 judgment in favor of TU should be granted on the CLRA claim. See e.g. Weinberg v.
11 Whatcom Cnty., 241 F.3d 746, 751-52 (9th Cir. 2001) (affirming grant of defendant’s 12 motion for summary judgment because “[w]hen damages are an essential element of 13 plaintiff’s claim, failure to offer competent evidence of damages support a grant of 14 summary judgment”) (internal quotation omitted).

15 3. Low’s Elder Abuse Claim Fails

16 As discussed above in relation to Low’s UCL, FAL, and CLRA claims, Low’s 17 inability to produce evidence of the damages attributable to TU’s alleged “core” 18 misrepresentations is also fatal to his claim for financial elder abuse. Financial abuse of 19 an elder occurs when a defendant takes (or assists in taking) the real or personal property 20 of an elder to a wrongful use or with intent to defraud. Cal. Welfare & Inst. Code 21 § 15610.30(a). Here, Low’s elder abuse claim is predicated on the alleged “core” 22 misrepresentations by TU. See generally TAC ¶¶93-104 & 205-213. The gravamen of the 23 claim is that the “core” misrepresentations were the means TU used to take Low’s 24 money. Low has no actionable claim because he cannot establish the necessary link 25 between the “core” misrepresentations and his alleged damages. Low is required to 26 establish the damages caused by his reliance on the misrepresentations. As with Low’s 27 other fraud based claims, that measure of damages is the difference between what was 28 paid and the value of what was received. Therefore, Low’s lack of evidence of the 1 alleged value of the seminar and mentorship received entitles TU to summary judgment

 2 because Low cannot establish what property was taken from him by means of the “core” 3 misrepresentations. A defendant can only be legally responsible for the harm actually 4 caused. See Cal. Civ. Code § 3333.<sup>6</sup>

5 C. Summary Judgment Is Appropriate Against The Florida Subclass
 6 Representative

7 1. Everett Cannot Prove Damages

8 Like the California Plaintiffs, Everett’s Florida-based claims against TU also fail 9 because she cannot establish a necessary element of either her Misleading Advertising 10 Law or her Deceptive Trade Practices claims: injury, i.e. actual damages.

11 To maintain a civil action for violation of Florida’s Misleading Advertising Law, 12 Section 817.41(1), Florida Statutes (1999) (hereinafter referred to as “MAL”), Everett 13 must prove each of the elements of common law fraud in the inducement. Smith v.
 14 Mellon Bank, 957 F.2d 856 (11th Cir. 1992) (citing Vance v. Indian Hammock Hunt &
 15 Riding Club, Ltd., 403 So. 2d 1367, 1370 (Fla. 4th DCA 1981); Burton v. Linotype Co., 16 556 So. 2d 1086 (Fla. 1990), review denied, 564 So. 2d 1086 (Fla. 1990). That Everett 17 suffered injury in justifiable reliance on TU’s misrepresentation, is an essential element 18 of the MAL claim. See Samuels v. King Motor Co. of Ft. Lauderdale, 782 So. 2d 489, 19 497 (Fla. 4th DCA 2001); Hillcrest Pacific Corp. v. Yamamura, 727 So. 2d 1053, 1055 20 (Fla. 4th DCA 1999. “Injury” under the MAL includes actual damages. Rollins, Inc. v.
 21 Butland, 951 So. 2d 860, 877 (Fla. 2nd DCA 2006).

22 Similarly, for Everett’s FDUTPA claim to survive, she must prove: (1) “a 23 deceptive act or unfair practice, (2) causation, and (3) actual damages.” Third Party 24 Verification, Inc. v. Signaturelink, Inc., 492 F. Supp. 2d 1314, 1326 (M.D. Fla. 2007).

25 _____
 26 <sup>6</sup> Summary judgment is also appropriate on Low’s claim for treble damages pursuant to 27 Cal. Civ. Code § 3345 in relation to his elder abuse claim. There is no evidence that Low 28 was more vulnerable than others because of his age, impaired understanding, impaired health, restricted mobility, or disability, as required by the statute.

1 Under Florida law, actual damages are defined as “the difference in the market value of 2 the product or service in the condition in which it was delivered and its market value in 3 the condition in which it should have been delivered according to the contract of the 4 parties.” Urling v. Helms Exterminators, Inc., 468 So. 2d 451, 454 (Fla. 1st DCA 1985).
5 Where a party fails to provide evidence of actual damages proximately caused by the 6 alleged violations of the FDUTPA, the claim fails. See Himes v. Brown & Co. Sec. Corp., 7 518 So. 2d 937, 938 (Fla. 3d DCA 1988).

8         Everett’s claim fails because she has no evidence of any actual damages. (SOF 1.) 9 Everett has presented no evidence of the difference in value between what she paid for 10 TU and what TU’s training would be worth had it been an accredited university as she 11 alleges. Everett has presented no evidence of the difference in value between what she 12 received as part of TU’s year-long mentoring and the value of what she alleges she 13 should have received. Everett has presented no evidence of the difference in value 14 between what the students paid to TU and what TU’s education was worth if Mr. Trump 15 had handpicked the instructors as Everett alleges. Everett has no admissible evidence of 16 any such “actual damages” and therefore her claim fails. See, e.g., Randolph v. J.M.
17 Smucker Co., 2014 WL 7330430 (S.D. Fla. Dec. 23, 2014) (Plaintiff failed to present a 18 sufficient damages model when there was no evidence that the price premium associated 19 with the misrepresentation was capable of measurement). TU is therefore entitled to 20 summary judgment in its favor on the Florida MAL and FDTUPA claims.

21             2.         The Failure Of Everett’s FDUTPA Claim Is Fatal To Everett’s Claim
22                         Of Elder Abuse

23         Where summary judgment is appropriate as to the underlying FDUTPA claim, 24 summary judgment is also appropriate for any alleged elder abuse violation. See Borden 25 v. Saxon Mortgage Services, Inc., 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 101823, at *34-35 (S.D. Fla.
26 2010). Here, because Everett’s FDUTPA claim against TU fails, her elder abuse claim 27 also fails.

1           D.     Summary Judgment Is Appropriate Against The New York Gen. Bus. Law
 2                 § 349 Subclass Representative’s Claim

3           A plaintiff suing under GBL § 349 must prove “that a defendant has engaged in 4 (1) consumer-oriented conduct that is (2) materially misleading, and that (3) plaintiff 5 suffered injury as a result of the allegedly deceptive act or practice.” Oscar v. BMW of N.
 6 Am., LLC, 2012 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 84922 at *8 (S.D.N.Y. June 19, 2012). While proof of 7 justifiable reliance is not required, a plaintiff must prove that defendant’s material 8 deceptive act or practice actually caused plaintiff’s injury. Id. at *8-9. Plaintiff Brown 9 cannot prove entitlement to relief under GBL § 349 because: (1) he has failed to state an 10 injury cognizable under New York law; and (2) he has no evidence of damages.

11                     1.     Brown’s Full Refund Model Does Not State A Cognizable Injury
 12                             Under GBL § 349

13           New York law does not provide a cause of action for refund of the full purchase 14 price of a service on the basis that it would not have been purchased absent defendant’s 15 acts or practice under GBL § 349. Dash v. Seagate Tech. (US) Holdings, Inc., 2014 U.S.
 16 Dist. LEXIS 88780 at *9 (E.D.N.Y. June 30, 2014) citing Small v. Lorillard Tobacco
 17 Co., 94 N.Y.2d 43, 56 (N.Y. 1999) (rejecting argument “that consumers who buy a 18 product that they would not have purchased, absent a manufacturer’s deceptive 19 commercial practices have suffered an injury under General Business Law § 349.”). “The 20 rationale for this is that deceived consumers may nevertheless receive—and retain the 21 benefits of—something of value, even if it is not precisely what they believed they were 22 buying.” Id. (internal quotations and citations omitted). A refund of the full purchase 23 price is exactly what Brown seeks for himself and the NY subclass under GBL § 349.
 24 Brown does not have a legally cognizable full refund claim.

25                     2.     There Is No Evidence Of Brown’s Damages

26           Brown cannot save his claim by seeking damages equal to the difference between 27 the cost of the TU seminar or mentorship and the value of the seminar or mentorship he 28 alleges he received. As discussed above regarding the California and Florida class

1 representatives, Brown has failed to produce evidence supporting the latter; a necessary 2 predicate to determining the difference between what was paid and the value of what was 3 received. (See SOF 1.) See also, Oosterhuis v. Palmer, 137 F.2d 322 (2nd Cir. 1943)
 4 (under New York law, damages for misrepresentations are measured as “the difference 5 between the value of the thing as represented and as it was in actual fact.”). Because he 6 cannot prove a key element of his claim, summary judgment in favor of TU should be 7 granted. See e.g. R.M. Newell Co. v. Rice, 236 A.D.2d 843, 844, 653 N.Y.S.2d 1004, 8 1005 (App. Div. 1997) (summary judgment proper when plaintiff cannot support an 9 element of [his] cause of action).

10 III. TU IS ENTITLED TO SUMMARY JUDGMENT ON ALL REMAINING 11 INDIVIDUAL CLAIMS

12 A. Money Had And Received

13 None of the Plaintiffs<sup>7</sup> have a legally-supportable claim for money had and 14 received against TU. Plaintiffs’ claim for money had and received is quasi-contractual in 15 nature. See Shvarts v. Budget Grp., Inc., 81 Cal. App. 4th 1153, 1160 (2000); Board of 16 Educ. of Cold Spring Harbor Cent. Sch. Dist. v. Rettaliata, 78 N.Y.2d 128, 138, 576

 18 one of quasi-contract or of contract implied-in-law.”); Berry v. Budget Rent a Car Sys., 19 497 F. Supp. 2d 1361, 1369 (S.D. Fla. 2007) (same). Because Plaintiffs have alleged the 20 existence of valid contracts with TU relating to the seminar and mentorship purchases 21 (TAC ¶150), they may not also maintain a cause of action based on quasi-contract.<sup>8</sup> TU is 22

23 <sup>7</sup> As stated in the TAC, Edward Oberkrom is a resident of Missouri, therefore venue for 24 Oberkrom’s individual claims is improper. See 28 U.S.C. 1391(b)(2).

25 <sup>8</sup> See Shvarts, 81 Cal. App. 4th at 1160 (affirming trial court’s sustaining of demurrer

 York law and denying recovery under theory of unjust enrichment or money had and received because an express contract governing the same subject matter existed between 1 entitled to summary judgment on the claim for money had and received.

2 B. Unjust Enrichment

3 Makaeff, Low, and Keller have no claim for unjust enrichment against TU because 4 it is not a cause of action under California law.<sup>9</sup>

5 As stated above, Brown and Everett's claims fail because they cannot establish the 6 amount of restitution; the remedy for any alleged unjust enrichment.<sup>10</sup> Brown and 7 Everett's quasi-contractual unjust enrichment claims also fail because they are not viable
8 when an express contract exists between the parties.<sup>11</sup> See One Step Up, LTD, 87 A.D.3d 9 at 14; Berry, 497 F. Supp. 2d at 1369-1370. The Court should granted summary judgment

1 C. Fraud, False Promise, and Negligent Misrepresentation

2 Plaintiffs cannot prove their claims for fraud, false promise<sup>12</sup> and negligent 3 misrepresentation against TU. These claims against TU are all based on the alleged 4 “core” misrepresentations. With minor differences in wording, California, Florida, and 5 New York claims for fraud and California and Florida claims for negligent 6 misrepresentation all require common elements: (1) misrepresentation to plaintiff; 7 (2) intent to defraud; (3) reliance/justifiable reliance on the misrepresentation(s); and 8 (4) damages caused by the reliance.<sup>13</sup> Plaintiffs have no evidence establishing damages 9 attributable to the misrepresentations, namely the difference in value as represented 10 versus as received. (SOF 1.) Because Plaintiffs are unable to make this evidentiary 11 showing, TU is entitled to summary judgment on these claims.

12 D. Breach of Contract and Breach of Implied Covenant

13 The breach of contract and implied covenant claims also fail based on Plaintiffs’ 14 inability to establish damages based on admissible evidence. In California, New York, 15 and Florida damages is an essential element of a breach of contract cause of action.<sup>14</sup> The 21 misrepresentation claim); Hamlen v. Fairchild Indus., Inc., 413 So. 2d 800, 802 (Fla.

22 Dist. Ct. App. 1982) (same).

23 <sup>13</sup> Seeger v. Odell, 18 Cal. 2d 409, 414 (1941) (fraud); Friedman v. Merck & Co., 107 24 Cal. App. 4th 454, 476 (2003) (negligent misrepresentation); Specialty Marine & Indus.
25 Supplies v. Venus, 66 So. 3d 306, 309-10 (Fla. Dist. Ct. App. 2011) (fraud and negligent 26 misrepresentation); Mandarin Trading Ltd. v. Wildenstein, 944 N.E.2d 1104, 1108-09 27 (N.Y. 2011) (fraud). The only difference is a claim for negligent misrepresentation in 28 New York which requires “(1) the existence of a special or privity-like relationship imposing a duty on the defendant to impart correct information to the plaintiff; (2) that the information was incorrect; and (3) reasonable reliance on the information.”
Mandarin, 944 N.E.2d at 1109.

Health Sys., 330 F. Supp. 2d 383, 404 (S.D.N.Y. 2004); Rollins, 951 So. 2d at 876.

1 measure of damages for breach of contract is the amount necessary to put the plaintiff in 2 as good as position as if the contract had been performed, here had the allegedly false 3 “core” misrepresentations been true.<sup>15</sup> Again, Plaintiffs have submitted no evidence of the 4 value of the misrepresentations, the premium paid based on the misrepresentations, or the 5 value of the seminars and mentorships as delivered. (SOF 1.) Plaintiffs’ contract-based 6 claims fail and summary judgment in favor of TU is warranted.

7 IV. CONCLUSION

8 For all of the foregoing reasons, Trump University’s Motion for Summary 9 Judgment or, in the Alternative, Partial Summary Judgment should be granted.
